DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The applicants' amendment filed 6/5/2008 has been fully considered and made of record.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 8-12 and 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Seto (US 6,036,425).

As applied to claims 8, 10, 19 and 20, Seto discloses a component placement device comprising: an elongated transport device (e. g. 23) that is configured to transport a substrate in a transport direction parallel to the transport device; at least one component feeder (e. g. 3) that is located along a longitudinal side of the transport device; at least one component pick-and-place unit (e. g. 9) that is configured to: (a) pick-up a component from the at least one component feeder; and (b) place the component on the substrate; and at least one substrate support (e. g. 6) that is situated on only one longitudinal side of the transport device that is opposite from the longitudinal side at which the component feeder is located, the at least one substrate support having a longitudinal direction that extends perpendicular to the transport direction (see Fig. 1-2).

As applied to claim 9, Seto discloses the substrate support is detachably connected to the component placement device (see Fig. 1).

As applied to claim 11, Seto et al disclose the transport device comprises at least one guide profile that extends parallel to the transport direction, wherein the at least one guide profile is connected to the substrate support, and wherein the at least one guide profile is configured to be moved together with the substrate support in a direction that extends transverse to the transport direction (see Fig. 1).

As applied to claim 12, Seto discloses wherein the substrate support comprises two guides (e. g. 12) that extend parallel to each other and transverse to the transport direction (Fig. 1).

As applied to claim 13, Seto disclose the substrate support comprises two guides (e. g. 6) that extend parallel to each other and transverse to the transport direction.

As applied to claims 16-18, Seto disclose the substrate support (e. g. 12) is configured to be moved vertically from a position parallel to the transport device to a position underneath the transport device (see Fig.1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Seto in view of Munezane et al (US 6,000,123).

As applied to claims 14 and 15, Seto disclose all of the limitations of the claimed invention except that the step of a distance between the guides is adjustable.

However, Munezane et al teaches a distance between the guides is adjustable (col. 10, lines 1-9).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at this timer the invention was made to have modified the method of Harimoto by including the guides that are adjustable, as taught by Togami, to allow for different size substrate.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 8-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
